The destination for healthcare excellence

We're fortunate to have the resources to affect so many lives in such a variety of ways. Through identifying new practices and protocols, we ensure patients always receive the safest, most innovative and compassionate care possible.

Clinical research advances innovative care

We partner across HCA Healthcare's approximately 2,400 sites of care to conduct leading-edge research, share best practices and support and develop technologies to improve patient care. This gives patients access to advanced therapies and services – many of which cannot be found elsewhere in the Kansas City area.

Healthgrades recognitions validate excellence

The safe, high-quality care delivered by HCA Midwest Health has been validated by well-respected organizations like Healthgrades.

Quality protocols enhances surgical recoveries

All HCA Midwest Health facilities use enhanced surgical recovery (ESR), multimodal evidence-based treatments that help providers reduce and control patients' surgical pain while also greatly reducing the need for strong pain medications. ESR has proven to decrease surgical complication rates and opioid usage compared to those surgeries not using ESR.

Training tomorrow's care teams

Our commitment to training the next generation of clinical caregivers runs deep, providing students and early career providers with knowledge of the latest therapies and evidence-based practices. Through our Research College of Nursing and robust graduate medical education (GME) program, we are taking a proactive approach.
